Athlone Nationalists have put forward Henry J. Walker as their Parliamentary candidate.

Several evicted farms on the Shirely estate at Carrickmacross have been surveyed, preliminary to the reinstatement of the tenants, many of whom were evicted from their homes and holdings upwards of twenty years ago.

Despite every effort for her rescue Mary Anne, the little daughter of a laborer residing near Carrickmacross, was drowned in the Lymuckny river, which flows near her home and was flooded above its banks. The child ventured too close and was swept away before aid could reach her.

The eviction of tenants on the Lord Barrymore estate was carried out in the Middleton district when Balliff Harding, of Cork, accompanied by District Inspector Webster and a strong force of police from Middleton and Carrigrohilly, proceeded to the lands of Gurtinacree and evicted Maurice Hayes, James Hayes and Mary Hayes, brothers and sisters, from their holding.

A small farmer and fisherman named Jeremiah Crineen, living on the seaboard to the west of Bantry, committed suicide by hanging himself from a beam or rafter in the kitchen of his house. He retired with his son to bed at the usual time, but when the latter got up the next morning he saw his father sitting on a chair in the kitchen with a rope round his neck and tied to overhead timbers.

A shocking fatality occurred close to the village of Ballinacloy, Queen's county. Neal Jeffers, a well known local farmer, was driving a threshing machine home, and feeling fatigued on the journey, he attempted to take a seat on the machine, when his foot slipped. He fell beneath one of the wheels of the vehicle and sustained injuries so serious that death was almost instantaneous. He leaves a wife and young family to mourn his loss.

John Gilliland, for fifty years in the employ of the Great Northern railway and one of its best known guards, died suddenly while in charge of the train from Dundalk to Clones. Deceased was a native of County Monaghan, having been born at Dartree, and he may be said to have given his whole life in the service of the Great Northern Company. The news of his sudden death was received in Clones and other places where he was known with feelings of regret.

Newry was the center of a great demonstration on the occasion of the opening of the John Mitchell Memorial Hall, which has been erected by the Irish National Foresters in the frontier town. The attendance was the largest and most representative at any public demonstration for many years past. Contingents were present from all the adjoining districts, with bands and banners, and the scene as the procession passed through the principal streets of the town was very impressive and picturesque, the Emmet costume being worn by many of those taking part.

His Holiness the Pope has confirmed the nomination by the Propaganda of Very Rev. Andrew Boylan, Provincial of the Redemptorist order, Limerick, to the vacant See of Killmore. Father Boylan is a native of the diocese, and was a professor in St. Patrick's College at Cavan for a number of years. He was afterwards Bursar of Maynooth College. Father Boylan has just returned from visiting the houses of his order in Australia, New Zealand and also in the Philippines, where a new Redemptorist monastery has been founded for the Catholics in those islands.

Two men named Thomas O'Connell and James Cooney received serious injuries at Killfinane. It is stated that they were engaged in an attempt to blast some rocks, and had applied the usual means. They retired to a position of safety, and finding that the charge was not taking effect within the expected time they returned to see what was amiss, and while pursuing their investigations it exploded, as a result of which the two sustained severe injuries. O'Connell had his leg broken and received injuries to his eyes, and Cooney's

OWNER WANTED.

Mrs. Rose Kelly has in her possession a silk umbrella left by mistake at the reception of the Ladies' Auxiliary last Wednesday night, which the owner can secure by calling on her at the office of the National Foundry Company, 1408 West Main street.

NEWPORT.

A general meeting of the Young Men's Institute and the Young Ladies' Auxiliary, at which a fine musical programme was rendered, was held Monday night at the rooms of Phil Sheridan Council. Hon Joseph Kealy, of Cincinnati, representative of the Ohio Legislature, was present and delivered a stirring and patriotic address. Then followed a social session that was thoroughly enjoyed by the many present.

VATICAN WALL COLLAPSED.

A dispatch from Rome says that fifty yards of the exterior wall of the Vatican collapsed Wednesday. The fall of the wall destroyed the courtyard Della Zittella. It was planted with orange trees and was the favorite promenade of Pope Leo XIII.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General
News Notes.

It is reported that the County Board will soon arrange for a general meeting of the entire order.

The two ladies, auxiliaries are growing steadily. They should have a membership of at least 1,000.

The Ancient Order in New Hampshire contains more members of twenty-five years' standing than any State in New England.

The several divisions of Norfolk county, Mass., have an aggregate sum of $52,000 in their respective treasuries.

The ladies have organized another auxiliary, the latest being in Rome, N. Y., which starts off with a good charter list.

Division 7 of Syracuse initiated thirty-five candidates Thursday night. This is the second largest division in the State of New York.

Division 1 of Lowell, Mass., has a membership of 344. Division 2 of the same city has 325 members in good standing and $5,000 in its treasury.

Following the recent parade of the Manchester Hibernians between 1,200 and 1,500 visitors were fed at the banquet in the Packer building.

The order in Manchester increased over 150 in membership during the past month. Manchester's membership roll has now reached the thousand mark.

National Lecturer Edward J. Slattery had fifteen invitations to address divisions on St. Patrick's day. One was from Pittsburgh, and another from Peoria, Ill.

The Hibernians of Duluth received holy communion in a body in the Cathedral there. There was a large attendance and the members made an edifying showing.

St. Patrick's division of Baltimore now opens and closes its meetings with the prayers in Irish and a short selection from Irish history is read at every meeting.

Division 3 held another rousing meeting Thursday night. This division has gone out to be pace-maker for the others, and it must be conceded that it will require some fast work to overtake them.

The members of Division 1 will receive some very welcome news next Tuesday night. John Mulloy and the Literary Committee will now make special preparation for "doings," which all will enjoy.

All members of Division 1 should attend the opening meeting of the new hall at First and Market streets next Friday night. The meeting rooms are easy of access and will prove a delightful surprise.

Minnesota Hibernians are making it exceedingly hot for the St. Paul Pioneer Press, which offered an insult to the Irish people by publishing a caricature representing the Irishman's relation to the United States.

Division 4 will meet Wednesday night at Liederkranz Hall, Sixth and Walnut, when it is expected another big batch of applications will be presented. An interesting meeting is promised and visiting members of other divisions will receive a cordial welcome.

The Hibernians of New Haven, Conn., will work the fourth degree on a large number of candidates April 14. The several divisions of that city have appointed committees to make arrangements for the entertainment of delegates at the State convention to be held there in August.

The quarterly report of State Secretary Mahoney of the Minnesota A. O. H. life insurance fund for November, December and January, shows a larger number of deaths in the organization than for any preceding quarter. Eighteen death claims of $1,000 each were paid and six others were in process of adjustment. For the first time in years the expenditures for three months exceeded the income.

CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

The Central Committee of the Catholic Knights of America will hold its regular monthly meeting next Friday night at St. Mary's Hall on Eighth street and all delegates are urged to attend. President McGinn says that the annual parade and other important questions, some of which concern the branches, will be considered.
